FINALS PREP TIPS

Finals season is around the corner—now's the time to get organized and build momentum. Here are a few smart strategies to help you feel confident and prepared:

- ✓ Start Early – Review notes in small chunks instead of cramming the night before.
- ✓ Make a Game Plan – List your finals, due dates, and study blocks on a calendar.
- ✓ Use Campus Resources – The TLC and Peer Tutoring are great places for extra support.
- ✓ Practice Actively – Quiz yourself, teach the material out loud, or use flashcards.
- ✓ Take Care of Yourself – Sleep, snacks, and movement help your brain stay sharp.

A little planning goes a long way—keep your goals in sight and finish the semester strong!

PATHWAYS SPOTLIGHT

Meet Wake Forest High School Junior & Scholar: Seth Gower

Seth Gower is a junior at Wake Forest High School with a strong interest in cybersecurity.

His goal is to earn a certification in cybersecurity, secure a job in the field, and save enough money to achieve financial stability and live comfortably at a young age. His biggest inspiration is his grandmother, who has taken care of him and his siblings for as long as he can remember. He is determined to work hard and succeed so that he can take care of her in return. While he is not currently involved in any clubs, he works at the YMCA, where he watches over and cares for young children. This experience has taught him responsibility, patience, and leadership skills that he can apply in his future career.
